CRITERION 1- TEACHING LEARNING
1.1   Mode of Teaching
1.1.2. Technology based teaching only

At Government College Seraj at Lambathach, technology-based teaching is actively encouraged and increasingly integrated into the teaching–learning process. Faculty members use various ICT tools and digital resources to make classroom instruction more engaging, accessible, and student-centered.

Classrooms are equipped with projectors, computers, and internet connectivity, which enable teachers to deliver PowerPoint presentations, display multimedia content, and access online educational platforms. The use of audio-visual materials, e-content, YouTube lectures, and digital notes helps in explaining complex topics more effectively and enhances student comprehension.

Teachers also make use of Google Classroom, WhatsApp groups, and e-mail communication for sharing study material, assignments, and important notices. In addition, online resources such as e-Pathshala, Swayam, and NPTEL are introduced to students for reference and self-learning purposes.

The college promotes technology-based learning not only as a teaching aid but also as a means to prepare students for the digital academic environment. Periodic ICT training sessions and faculty orientation programmes are organized to strengthen the digital teaching capacity of the staff.

Thus, the use of technology in teaching has transformed traditional classroom learning into a more interactive, visual, and student-friendly experience, contributing to improved learning outcomes and greater participation of students.
